

Bluntisham

Bluntisham Baptist Church
10.30am Sunday May 2nd 2021

Dear Church Family,

Today is rather different as we have the option of our usual virtual service or another outdoor live service although of course you could join in with both – I will let you figure out the logistics. This is part of our review to ensure we make church as inclusive as possible. Either way it is a real blessing to be able to worship together.

Today's theme is the "Judgement of God" on which Catrin will be expanding during the service. We are all equal in God's eyes. The service also includes communion so please be prepared for the online version or you will need to bring your own bread and "wine"/grapes to the live service.

For those with children who would normally be in Sunday School Anna has circulated a note to bring Lego figures and pens and pencils so please don't forget to pack them together with their usual nibbles. And if you were wondering there will not be any breakout coffee rooms after the service today.

For the live service we of course need to observe the current guidelines - a copy of which is included in the email for your information. The logistics for the Easter service worked well and we hope you feel safe and confident to worship together this morning.

As always a big thanks to those who have contributed to this morning's recorded service and to those who are working behind the scenes for the live version.

You are loved by God, may those that you encounter know that they are loved too.

The link for this morning's service is <http://bluntishambaptist.org/index.php/Ministries/virtual-church>

Every blessing

Malcolm